All in all, a decent and cheap pen.The students enrolled in Dr. Signor's course had the opportunity to sample a variety of wines from around the world. Wine is in itself a unique fermented product originating from berries, grapes, and other fruits. A wine is made using the yeast that is naturally present on the fruit and then distils its own flavour into the finished product. Various alcohol levels can be created using different processes, depending upon the specific method. A wine may be made to be a light fruity wine or medium or bold, based upon the characteristics of the base ingredients. For example, chardonnay grapes make a soft, fruity wine with a mild taste, whereas pinot noir will lend a more robust wine with a strong taste. For some countries, such as France, Italy and Spain, a region's wine may be known for a particular type of grape, such as chardonnay or cabernet sauvignon. These named wines may be associated with a specific style of wine making, such as the Chateauneuf-du-Pape, that may be seen in very specific regions of France. A wine may also be modified from its original source by adding certain ingredients to the process. For example, when fermenting grape juice, the yeast will rise to the 6d1f23a050
